Nº. 216.

HAGUE, March 4.

THE ſtates of Holland have taken a reſolution, authorizing the prince ſtadtholder to name a committee to ſettle the affair of the poſt office. An expreſs arrived here laſt Saturday with an account, that the Bavarians lately draughted from the ſeveral corps, to the number of 1600 men, for the ſervice of the empreſs queen, after having barricado'd themſelves at Hoogſtraten, had ſent word to general Von Neys, who commands in chief the Bavarian troops, that their intention was not to mutiny, ſince they were ready to follow their colours any where; but that they would not be diſpoſed of in the manner purpoſed, without any ſort of capitulation; and were very willing to return to their old corps, provided they were not to be puniſhed for what they had done; which the general thought proper readily to agree to. All the accounts arrived from Flanders agree, that the evacuations in Hainault were executed on the 23d and 24th of February.

March 5. General Pretorius, preſident of the council of war, for enquiring into the affair of Bergen op Zoom, conferred lately with the preſident of the week, in relation, as it is ſaid, to ſome important diſcoveries.

We learn from Bruſſels, that the duke of Aremberg is much indiſpoſed; that the governors of the barrier places at the breaking out of the war, have been ſuſpended, and that a very ſtrict enquiry will be made into their conduct. M. Van Haaren is returned from Frieſland.

The Eaſt-India directors of the chamber of Amſterdam have lately put five ſhips into commiſſion, which will ſail about Eaſter. The election at Wurtzburg is fixed for the 22d of this month.

Hamburgh, March 14. We learn from Poland, that the Ruſſian auxiliaries continue to proſecute their march through that country with all imaginable diligence; and that there is no doubt to be made, of the ſtates of Courland declaring their new duke after Eaſter. All the regiments in the Swediſh ſervice are compleat, and orders have been iſſued for raiſing two new regiments of 1200 men each. Admiral Taube has orders to viſit the fleet, and to preſs their being in a condition to put to ſea early in the ſpring. The greateſt part of the ſubſidies due from the French crown to that of Sweden, have been remitted hither. It is very certain that the levies continue in all the dominions of his Pruſſian majeſty, that the officers in his ſervice have inſtructions to repair to their reſpective poſts, and to put their troops in a condition of being review'd by his majeſty, in three weeks or a month at fartheſt; the cavalry are alſo compleatly remounted, and conſiſt at preſent of 54000 men. The magiſtrates of Dantzick have taken a ſudden reſolution of fortifying that city.

Hague, March 21. According to ſome private advices from Naples, the prince Pignatelli has given ſatisfaction to the cardinal archbiſhop of that city; notwithſtanding which, his Sicilian majeſty has not thought fit to ſet him at liberty. The royal infant Don Philip made a moſt ſplendid entry into Placentia, preceded by one hundred gentlemen on horſeback, in crimſon velvet laced with gold; the magiſtrates, clergy, and nobility, were in fifty coaches and ſix.

A courier that arrived this morning from Vienna, brings advice, that four camps will be formed in the ſpring, two in Bohemia, one in Moravia, and one in the Upper Auſtria; which looks as if the dark weather in the North portended a ſtorm.

The ſuſpenſion of the extraordinary council of war, appointed to enquire into the affair of Bergen op Zoom, occaſions various ſpeculations.

LONDON.

February 11. Laſt Thurſday night the two young Africans which were lately brought to this place, made their appearance in public, at the Theatre Royal in Covent-Garden, to ſee the Tragedy of Oroonoko. When they came into the box, the polite audience (true Engliſh) received them with a loud clap of applauſe, which they each of them acknowleged by a very genteel bow, and took their ſeats. The caſe of Oroonoko's being made a ſlave by the treachery of a captain, was ſo ſimilar to their own; their ſeeing people of their own colour on the ſtage, ſeemingly in the ſame diſtreſs themſelves had been, ſtruck their young hearts with wonder and ſurprize; the diſtreſs of Oroonoko, his meeting with his Imoinda, the account of his barbarous uſage, all combined to raiſe in their youthful boſoms ſuch ſentiments of humanity, that tears, thoſe types of generous minds, flowed plentifully from their eyes: The royal youth, indeed could ſtand it no longer; but retired at the end of the fourth act, and returned again when the fifth act was over, to ſee the Entertainment. His companion remained, but was the whole time drowned in tears; which ſeemed to have ſuch a ſympathizing effect on the audience, that few there were but joined him.

March 6. On Saturday morning the honourable the Eaſt-India company received an expreſs from admiral Boſcawen, brought by the Swift ſloop, diſpatched for that purpoſe; the letters were dated the 16th of October from Fort St. David's, giving an account that he had made an attack upon Pondicherry, and beat down great part of the town by bombarding it from his ſhipping, landed a great number of his men, raiſed batteries, made regular approaches, and ſeveral ſkirmiſhes happened between them and the enemy; but the men in general being in a very ſickly condition, and the ſeaſon of the year advancing, he judged it proper to reimbark them, and leave the coaſt the firſt of October; and did not ſucceed according to his wiſhes.

Many men were loſt on both ſides; the Harwich man of war ſuffered much, and her commander, capt. Spry, was killed; major Lawrence, a brave old officer, was taken priſoner. While admiral Boſcawen was gone from Fort St. David's, the French detached 2000 men, and made a freſh attack upon that fort, which they endeavoured to attack with a great deal of reſolution, by aſcending the walls with ſcaling-ladders, &c. but were bravely repulſed by the garriſon. The admiral ordered ſeveral of his ſhips to come about, in order to pick up ſome of the French ſhips, if poſſible. He himſelf was on the point of returning to England, with ſeveral of the men of war. The ſame letters give an account of the death of the Great Mogul; and that the Bombay caſtle, capt. Browne, had taken a prize worth 20,000 l. We hear likewiſe that the Capwing, a ſmall new-built ſhip in the company's ſervice, was arrived at Fort St. David's, from the Downs, in three months and a few days, being the quickeſt paſſage known in the memory of man.

March 11. We learn from Naples, that as the Spaniſh troops in that kingdom were on the point of embarking, they received an unexpected countermand, and the ſhips that were to have eſcorted them were ordered back again to Barcelona, which occaſions there many ſpeculations. The ſame expreſs who brought theſe orders, was charged with other diſpatches importing a great fermentation at the court of Madrid, and extraordinary changes expect d.

From a particular correſpondent at Paris, whoſe letters are dated March 13, N. S. we have advice, that M. Puyſieux, in a late conference with a certain foreign miniſter, inſinuated that his moſt chriſtian majeſty was very willing to ſee the peace of the North preſerved; but in caſe ſuccours, under colour of treaties, ſhould be demanded by, and granted to one power, he ſhould be obliged to give the like aſſiſtance to the full extent of his engagements to another.

March 18. They write from Bologna, that there are ſtill various points to be ſettled in reference to the tranquility of Italy, which is believed to be the true cauſe of the infant Don Philip's quitting his dominions the very day after he took poſſeſſion of them. Theſe matters will however be ſettled in a few weeks, as they are ſuch as the parties concerned have a very ſtrong intereſt in ſettling, and as ſoon as this great buſineſs and that of the public entries is over, a congreſs will be form'd for adjuſting the general alliance, that has been ſo long talked of amongſt all the princes and ſtates of Italy.

By a private letter from Hamburgh we have advice, that the election of a duke of Courland will be infallibly over by the 10th of April next; and that, from the harmony which at preſent ſubſiſts between the Ruſſian and Poliſh commiſſaries at Mitau, it is generally believed, that all things relating to that election are compromiſed between the courts of Peterſburg and Warſaw, and that the new duke will be equally agreeable to both courts.

Marſeilles, March 29. By letters from Antibes we hear, that the fort which the marſhal Belleiſle has cauſed to be built, by the expreſs orders of his moſt chriſtian majeſty, at the village of St. Ariegt, from whence it takes it's name, ſituate on the third ſtage of the Var, in order to ſecure that paſſage, is perfectly finiſhed. And 'tis generally thought, that he will order ſeveral others to be erected for the ſame purpoſe, in caſe the king of Sardinia ſhall think proper to purſue the ſcheme which, as we are told, he has laid for raiſing a fortreſs on the other ſide of that river, in order to render the port of Villa Franca not only larger, but more commodious.

Letters from Spain mention, that the Margaretta was arrived at Cadiz from the Havanna, who brings advice, that admiral Reggio was ready to ſail for Europe with ſeven large ſhips, with an immenſe treaſure on board; and that the Aurora, a large Dutch ſhip, with upwards of 60,000 pieces of eight on board, was ſeized and confiſcated by the Spaniards on the coaſt of Spain, and the captain, mate, and ſome of the crew ſent to the gallies.

Extract of a Letter from Paris, March 14.

"All our letters from the ſea ports mention ſcarcely any thing elſe but the great preparations making there for embarkations of all kinds; many people are going over to ſettle in the iſland of Tobago; but what ſome of the other embarkations are deſigned for, does not yet plainly appear, though it runs ſtrangely in ſome poor folks heads, that they may be intended for playing off a fine firework in a certain northern kingdom.

The king has juſt received a courier from the duke of Parma, with the news of that prince's arrival and ſettlement in his new ſovereignty. An expreſs is alſo arrived from London, charged with diſpatches full of repreſentations to the court about the iſland of Tobago, which the king has given in ſovereignty to marſhal Saxe.

The laſt letters from Avignon ſay, that the young pretender having received a conſiderable remittance, had order'd all his retinue to hold themſelves in readineſs to accompany him in a journey which he deſigns to make; but he has not given them the leaſt hint of the route he is to take."

Whitehall, March 7. A propoſal having been preſented to his Majeſty, for the eſtabliſhing a civil government in the province of Nova Scotia in North-America, as alſo for the better peopling and ſettling the ſaid province, and extending and improving the fiſhery thereof, by granting lands within the ſame, and giving other encouragements, to ſuch of the officers and private men lately diſmiſſed his majeſty's land and ſea ſervice, as ſhall be willing to ſettle in the ſaid province: And his majeſty having ſignified his royal approbation of the purport of the ſaid propoſals, the right honourable the lords commiſſioners for trade and plantations do, by his majeſty's command, give notice, That proper encouragement will be given to ſuch of the officers and private men lately diſmiſſed his majeſty's land and ſea ſervice, as are willing to accept of grants of land, and to ſettle, with or without families, in the province of Nova Scotia.

That fifty acres of land will be granted in fee ſimple to every private ſoldier or ſeaman, free from the payment of any quit rent or taxes for the term of ten years; at the expiration whereof, no perſon to pay more than one ſhilling per annum for every fifty acres ſo granted.

That a grant of ten acres, over and above the ſaid fifty acres, will be made to each private ſoldier or ſeaman, having a family, for every perſon, including women and children, of which his family ſhall conſiſt, and further grants made to them on the like conditions, as their families ſhall increaſe, or in proportion to their abilities to cultivate the ſame.

That eighty acres on like conditions will be granted to every officer under the rank of enſign in the land ſervice, and that of lieutenant in the ſea ſervice; and to ſuch as have families, fifteen acres over and above the ſaid eighty acres, for every perſon of which their families ſhall conſiſt.

That two hundred acres on like conditions will be granted to every enſign, three hundred to every lieutenant, four hundred to every captain, and ſix hundred to every officer above the rank of captain in the land ſervice; as alſo the like quantity of four hundred acres, on the like conditions, to every lieutenant in the ſea ſervice, and ſix hundred acres to every captain; and to ſuch of the abovementioned officers as have families, a further grant of thirty acres will be made over and above their reſpective quotas, for every perſon of which their families ſhall conſiſt.

That the lands will be parcelled out to the ſettlers as ſoon as poſſible, after their arrival, and a civil government eſtabliſhed, whereby they will enjoy all the liberties, privileges, and immunities, enjoyed by his majeſty's ſubjects in any other of the colonies and plantations in America, under his majeſty's government; and proper meaſures will alſo be taken for their ſecurity and protection.

That all ſuch as are willing to accept of the above propoſals, ſhall, with their families, be ſubſiſted during their paſſage, as alſo for the ſpace of twelve months after their arrival.

That they ſhall be furniſhed with arms and ammunition, as far as will be judged neceſſary for their defence, with a proper quantity of materials and utenſils for huſbandry, carrying on the fiſhery, and ſuch other purpoſes as ſhall be neceſſary for their ſupport.

That all ſuch perſons as are deſirous of engaging in the above ſettlement, do tranſmit by letter, or perſonally give in their names, ſignifying in what regiment or company, or on board what ſhip, they laſt ſerved; and if they have families, what number of perſons belonging to ſuch families they intend to carry with them, diſtinguiſhing the age and quality of each perſon; to any of the officers appointed to receive and enter the ſame, in books open for that purpoſe.

And that proper notice will be given of the ſaid books being cloſed, ſo ſoon as the intended number ſhall be compleated, or at lateſt on the 7th of April.

It is propoſed that the tranſports ſhall be ready to receive ſuch perſons on board on the 10th of April, and to be ready to ſail on the 20th; and that timely notice will be given of the place or places, to which ſuch perſons are to repair, in order to embark.

That for the benefit of the ſettlement, the ſame conditions which are propoſed to private ſoldiers or ſeamen, ſhall likewiſe be granted to carpenters, ſhipwrights, ſmiths, maſons, joiners, brickmakers, bricklayers, and all other artificers neceſſary in building or huſbandry, not being private ſoldiers or ſeamen.

That the ſame conditions that are propoſed to thoſe who have ſerved in the capacity of enſign, ſhall extend to all ſurgeons, whether they have been in his majeſty's ſervice or not, upon their producing proper certificates of their being duly qualified.

By Order of the Right Honourable the Lords Commiſſioners for Trade and Plantations, THO. HILL, Secretary.

KINGSTON, Jamaica, April 6.

On monday laſt his excellency the governor, the honourable council and aſſembly of this iſland, were entertain'd by rear admiral Knowles, on board his majeſty's ſhip Cornwall, where they were received with all the ſuitable dignity and honour due to ſo great a body. And,

On Thurſday our merchants were moſt elegantly entertain'd by rear admiral Knowles on board ſaid ſhip.

April 15. Yeſterday rear admiral Knowles, in his majeſty's ſhip Cornwall, ſaluted the fort at Port Royal, and ſailed from thence for England, and we are aſſured the Strafford ſails tomorrow.

BOSTON, May 22.

Extract of a Letter from Amſterdam, dated March 14, 1748-9.

"Politicians at the Hague and here are very ſanguine of a war in the North being inevitable, between the kings of Sweden and Pruſſia, againſt the empreſs queen and the Czarina, all of which have been this winter making the utmoſt preparations; and the laſt mail brings an important melancholy piece of news from Vienna, viz. that a courier was arrived from Dalmatia with advice of the Turks being reſolved to aſſemble a moſt numerous army on the frontiers of that province; and that immediately upon the proclamation thereof, an almoſt incredible number were in motion to the ſaid frontiers: This is looked upon to be at the inſtance of the above king, and the French king (who has juſt concluded a treaty with Pruſſia of 40,000 troops, in the character of Auxiliaries) in order to divert and divide the forces of the empress and the Czarina, while the king of Prussia forces the election of the dutchy of Courland in favour of his brother, and the king of Sweden recovers the Provinces of Finland and Livonia.

From Piscataway we hear, that about a fortnight ago, as some persons were trying a small quantity of gun powder in a chimney, it unfortunately happen'd, that it set fire to some loose powder that was spilled on the floor, by which the fire was communicated to about twenty pounds weight that lay in a corner of the room, which instantly blew up, whereby several persons were most terribly burnt and bruised, particularly major Greenleaf, of Portsmouth, who received so much hurt, that he died ten days after.

Last week a man at Stoughton fell into a coal pit while burning, and tho' alone he made shift to get out again, but so terribly burnt that he died the next day.

NEW YORK, May 29.

By the Jamaica papers we learn, that the council and assembly of that island, have agreed, that an humble address be presented to his majesty, setting forth the distresses of the island arising from the additional duty on sugar, the duty on melasses, spirits, the paucity of their white inhabitants, and the danger they are exposed to for want of a sufficient force to defend the country, hoping relief therein.
